Unborn Baby Service Re-design Steering Group

The role of the group is to take forward the development of an expanded multi-agency service for unborn babies and babies under the age of 1 who are affected by parental factors and compromised parenting. The overarching aim of the service redesign is to provide timely, proportionate and effective responses that improve outcomes for unborn babies, and babies under the age of one, their parents and families. This proposed redesigned service will effectively create a new one door access point for multi-agency services for this most vulnerable group of children and families. It will also focus additional resources on the needs of this user group and will relieve pressures on other parts of the system.
